The LiRoyal™ brand was created to promote a healthy and ecological lifestyle based on products made of Cannabis Sativa L. Knowledge and experience of Piotr Liroy-Marzec and the rest of our team made us a guarantor of quality of phytocannabinoid extraction and production using hemp plants.

The customer is the most important for us, therefore we care about the quality of our products from the very beginning – from sowing the first seed, through harvesting flowers, to delivering the finished goods to the buyer's hands. All our products are consulted with the best specialists and tested in independent laboratories.

We want to remain a guarantor and benchmark of quality on the global hemp market. That is why we work only with the best experts, striving to ensure that the LiRoyal™ brand offer is constantly expanding, meeting the special needs of our customers.

CBD properties

CBD and other plant-based cannabinoids are increasingly used around the world in both traditional and alternative medicine. They are also as an excellent supplement to your diet. Scientists from around the world have been intensively studying the properties of phytocannabinoids for many years. So far, cannabidiol is one of the best known and most lab-tested hemp compound.

Research has shown that CBD has a number of health-supporting properties, used in many areas of medicine: from prevention, through psychology, to neurology and oncology. CBD improves the functioning of the immune system, while demonstrating anti-epileptic, analgesic and anti-cancer properties. Thanks to its neuroprotective properties, it soothes various disorders and stimulates the nervous system. CBD is also known to have anti-inflammatory, anti-fungal and anti-allergic properties. It's also devoid of psychoactive properties, completely legal and safe. The studies conducted so far haven't shown any side effects of CBD supplementation, which is impossible to overdose.

CBD oils

Currently, the most popular form of CBD use is oils, taken orally as drops under the tongue. Droplet is uneven, therefore the pipette has a specially marked dosing scale for each oil to maintain the full therapeutic benefits of their use.

CBD pre-rolls

CBD pre-rolls are an interesting alternative to any harmful stimulants. They are often used to support the fight against addictions. They don't contain any psychoactive substances or nicotine, making them a healthier choice for people who want to quit smoking. In addition, the CBD contained in the product reduces the desire to return to addiction.

CBD flowers

Dried hemp flowers are a product intended for aromatherapy and vaporization. This form of using dried herbs prevents the emission of harmful smoke, which is why it is primarily recommended to patients. The product is also rich in other phytocannabinoids and has a wide range of positive effects on the body.

My adventure with Cannabis began when I was a child. Back then, I was already fascinated by these plants and realised how important they are to humanity. However, I truly appreciated the value of hemp many years later. Since then, I've been consciously learning about hemp and absorbing my Cannabis knowledge since 1991.

I often visit places where I meet many specialists representing the hemp industry. Thanks to this, LiRoyal™ products are unique and represent the best quality, meeting the highest standards all over the world.
